For official use only:

Grant of visas on Argentine Passports showing the Birthplace of the Holders as "Islas Malvinas" (Falkland Islands.)"

In view of the Argentine claim to soverignty over the Falkland Islands, no British visas should be affixed to an Argentine passport which shows the birthplace of the holder as "Islas Malvinas" unless you are satisfied that the holder or the holder's father was, or is, an Argentine national on some ground other than birth in the Falkland Islands. In such cases the holder should be recommended to obtain a British Passport, though no attempt to take away his Argentine passport should be made.

Visas may, however, continue to be affixed when required, on Argentine passports held by persons of dual British-Argentine natinnality who were born outside the Falkland Islands.
